A close-up photograph of a traditional Indonesian dish, Bothok Telur Asin. The main focus is a round, steamed salted egg resting on a bed of white rice, all contained within a large, green banana leaf. The egg has a slightly cracked, golden-brown top. In the background, two small, rustic orange ceramic bowls are visible: one contains a white, crystalline substance, likely salt, and the other is empty. The entire dish is presented on a light-colored, possibly white, surface.
