A large, elaborate Indonesian meal, likely from Kudus, is presented on a green banana leaf. The centerpiece is a large, whole fried fish (ikan bakar) served on a platter. To its right is a large bowl of white rice topped with a brown sauce. Surrounding these are numerous small bowls and plates containing various dishes: meat in sauce, vegetables, soups, and fried items. A large, dark, ornate pot and a glass pitcher are also visible. The meal is set on a wooden table, and a small bowl of brown sauce is placed near the center.
